COVELESKIE IS A JINX TO WHITE SOX

Harry Coveleskie.

Pitcher Coveleskie is the jinx who has enabled the Detroit Tigers to win thirty-two out of the last forty-five games they have played with the Chicago White Sox. He pitched in the opening Chicago-Detroit game this season and won as usual. Coveleskie's batting average is never anything to be proud of, but he is a pretty fair pitcher, even when he isn't pitted against the White Sox.

JUD AND BILL IN THE FINALS

Last Match of O. A. Turney Tennis Tournament to be Staged Between Judson and Horrell at Y. M. C. A. This Afternoon

The Y. M. C. A. Tennis Tournament for the O. A. Turney Cup has simmered down from twenty entrants to two real tennis players. This afternoon at 4:30 Phoenix fans will have the pleasure of witnessing a championship match between William Horrell and George A. Judson, the famous Michigan athletic wonder.

The match takes place on the "Y" courts and the public is cordially invited. This is the most important tennis event of the year and will decide who will take permanent possession of the trophy.

Yesterday afternoon in the semi-finals Judson surprised the tennis fans by defeating Fickus in two straight sets 6-2, 6-2. Horrell defeated Marshall 6-3, 7-5. Although Marshall was not in Horrell's class yet he played a remarkable game returning seemingly impossible lobs and heavy drives time after time. It is expected a large crowd will witness the finals this afternoon.
